

NETWORK SUPPORT FOR FORWARDING INCOMING FAX CALL TO MOBILE FAX DEVICE

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A method for a wireless network to forward an incoming call to a subscriber's primary mobile directory number on to a mobile fax directory number assigned to the subscriber includes: a) associating the mobile fax directory number with the primary mobile directory number, b) determining that the incoming call is a fax call, and c) forwarding the incoming call to the mobile fax directory number. In another embodiment, a method for a wireless network to forward an incoming call to a subscriber's mobile fax directory number is provided. In still another embodiment a wireless network for forwarding an incoming call to a mobile fax directory number assigned to a subscriber includes: means for associating the mobile fax directory number with the primary mobile directory number, means for determining that the incoming call is a fax call, and means for forwarding the incoming call to the mobile fax directory number.